

Your legacy can

CHANGE A CHILDS' FUTURE,

for generations to come

TYPES OF GIFTS YOU CAN LEAVE

There are numerous ways to support The Girls & Boys Brigade in your Will.
We recommend you seek legal advice from your solicitor.

Leaving a percentage of your remaining estate after you have provided for your loved ones.

This means you are less likely to need to update your Will if the value of your estate rises or falls. (A residuary gift)

A percentage of your overall estate

A fixed sum of money
(a pecuniary gift)

The Girls & Boys Brigade suggest the most effective way to leave a legacy is through a residuary gift. It allows you to provide for your loved ones and support the Brigade with your remaining estate.

To include a residuary gift, we suggest the following wording:

"I give to The Trustee for The Girls & Boys Brigade Foundation ABN 37 142 341 507 the balance and residue of my estate to be used for the general purposes of the Foundation".

All gifts, no matter how big or small,
can significantly impact a child's life
for generations to come.

In 1882, Sir James Fairfax from the Sydney Morning Herald and A.S Bennett from the Evening News had the grand vision to create a safe-haven for young boys and keep them off the street.

Supported by generous families within local communities, the vision still remains the same more than 138 years later and into the future, to provide a safe place for girls and boys and give them a future filled with hope.

Whatever stage of life you are in, making a Will is important.

The Girls & Boys Brigade relies on generous donations from gifts in Wills to ensure programs keep running, providing vulnerable children with a safe place to go.

"It has always been my intention to leave a gift to the Brigade in my Will, the organisation has done enormously good things for the girls and boys in the Surry Hills area, and it continues to provide comfort, respite and encouragement for children less fortunate than many."

~ John B. Fairfax AO

John's family have shared a long history and strong connection with The Girls & Boys Brigade, since the very beginning, more than 138 years ago.

John's family know the importance of children having a safe place to play, learn and be encouraged. He has seen over the years, how children, less fortunate than others, have had their lives transformed through the generosity of supporters.

"I would urge others to consider a contribution to the Foundation, either in their Will or during their lifetime", John says.

After considering your family and friends in your Will, many people choose to leave a gift in their Will to a cause they are passionate about or that has touched their lives in some way.

A gift in your Will can leave a lasting legacy and change the future for a child in need.

In 2016 & 2017, a generous gift left in their Wills by the late Eric Dare and George E. Foster to The Girls & Boys Brigade now provides funding for all administration costs. Today, 100% of donations to the Brigade directly provides care and support to children in need, which will carry on for many years to come.
